We design & develop web and mobile applications that complete your digital strategy.

About Circ

We value great brand experiences, we dig deeper to understand our client's core value to their customers, and we create applications that delight, inspire and achieve demonstrable results. ● The Circ philosophy embraces a holistic approach to design and development. The collaborative, cross-functional nature of our workflow allows us to design engaging and effective interfaces that are also usable and practical to build. We are a language-agnostic and our in-house experience and competencies cover a wide range of technologies. Our development team reviews and provides feedback on all designs throughout the life of a project. This positions us to objectively evaluate, recommend, and implement the best solutions to a given problem. ● With a diverse pool of talent and collective decades of experience, our approach combines agile workflows with an efficient, flexible process to effectively guide our projects from kickoff to deployment, as well as through the maintenance lifetime. ● Our clients span various industries such as healthcare, financial services, online retail, real estate, and enterprise software.

Cloudveil, an internationally recognized brand of technical apparel, outerwear, and mountain-inspired sports gear, called on Circ's expertise to design and implement their eCommerce website. ● “[They] did it again and surpassed my expectations. The new site is beautiful and was delivered as expected and actually ahead of when I predicted...Great work by all; I'm grateful for the big push to get this done and all the efforts on improving this important component of our business.”

—Steve Sullivan, Founder/President of Cloudveil.

FIELD & STREAM 1871

With the launch of a new collection of lifestyle apparel for the modern outdoor enthusiast, Otto International's apparel brand Field & Stream asked Circ to lend its web design, video and photography talents to the project.

- Following the product launch, an advertising campaign involving print publications, direct mail and e-mail platforms was developed to coincide with key shopping seasons and build brand recognition. ● “Circ is one of those rare companies that takes a 360 degree view of your brand and adds value in every area.”

Eagle Creek is widely known as the industry leader in adventure travel gear with over 30 years of experience in the market. However, the company's web presence did not accurately communicate the level of focused expertise the company delivers, or highlight the product features and benefits adequately. ● Circ stepped in and developed a strategy focused on messaging the brand promise of "making travel easier" as well as providing convincing product positioning to champion the brand's premier products. An intuitive linear navigation scheme, interactive "Outfit Me" product chooser, content-rich product pages and Circ's SiteManagementV2 content management tool were all implemented to complete the redesign of the site and sharpen the new message.

EPIQUEST

When the adventure travel pioneers at EpicQuest sketched together a business plan and outlined their strategy for marketing exclusive trips online, they quickly signed Circ's web design expertise to the project. ● With a focus on legendary destinations and world-class athletes and guides, Circ set out to develop an informational website to showcase EpicQuest's luxury services and unconventional adventure possibilities. Utilizing crisp imagery and fluid navigational elements, Circ constructed a web presence worthy of EpicQuest's exclusive services. The finished website artfully introduces online inquirers to EpicQuest's passion for delivering custom-tailored, world-class trips that clients experience with renowned athletes and guides. ● "We are thrilled at the work Circ did to launch the EpicQuest site. They executed relentlessly and proved a key partner in developing the online strategy."

Faced with a need for high quality, pixel-perfect HTML and robust JavaScript development, Dell reached out to Circ for help creating new management interfaces for its enterprise hosting products. Previous interfaces had been panned by critics and customers, so Dell saw a need to make their management interfaces more user-friendly, intuitive and contemporary. ● Circ assigned a team to provide management and development talent to build the new user interfaces. Front-end designs were built in

HTML, and a complex JavaScript architecture allowed for an experience devoid of page refreshes. Circ worked with Dell and partner Intel to integrate the front-end interfaces with back-end databases via JavaScript and JSON calls.

As a small company specializing in medication reminders that improve medical adherence, Intelecare often goes up against the big boys of the pharmaceutical professional services world. In order to stay lean and agile, they turned to Circ for a tight partnership—one in which Circ provides ongoing marketing strategy, project management, and creative and development services. ● Over its four-year relationship with Intelecare, Circ has immersed itself in the inner workings of the Intelecare machine, providing the infrastructure necessary to pump out 13 million messages every day without impacting their core HR model. ● Intelecare leaders focus on growing sales while Circ handles project execution and product development. Client marketing campaigns are launched monthly, mobile applications launch or are updated quarterly, and Intelecare provides reminder and messaging services to companies in the pharmaceutical, managed care, and medical treatment industries.

All-Body Moisture Retention Creme

PURE SCIENCE
PURE INGREDIENTS
PURE SYNERGY

Nature has given those of us with dry skin a gift – a gift of various plants, each of which can help alleviate or prevent an aspect of dry skin. But it takes sophisticated science and decades of research to realize the full potential of these natural ingredients. The kind of expertise and experience TriLipid Research Institute brings to trilipiderm™ creme, trilipiderm™ is a breakthrough formulation of ingredients which are actually enhanced by their synergistic interaction. It's the best of science and nature working in harmony.

Meadowfoam
Limonanthus alba
Meadowfoam Esters form a natural barrier to seal in moisture and prevent trans-epidermal water loss (TEWL). Meadowfoam Lactones significantly improve tone, texture and overall appearance of the skin.

Chamomile & Calendula
Matricaria recutita, Calendula officinalis
Facilitates the healing of skin inflammations and ulcerations.

Beta Sitosterol
A phytosterol derived from plants. Clinically proven to aid in the repair of damaged skin, and encourage the production of new collagen to reverse some of the effects of aging.

Olive Olea Europaea
Replenishes the skin's layer of protective lipids. Olive Squalene provides a natural youthful booster to the skin.

Sage
Simmondsia chinensis
Replenishes the skin's natural sebum to help waterproof the tissue, keeping it moist and healthy.

Allylsuccinimide
Crambe abyssinica
Smooths the skin, and eliminates a rough and flaky surface. Source of Omega-3 and Omega-6 Essential Fatty Acids.

PROVEN SATISFACTION

Regular use of trilipiderm™ restores skin's natural softness, suppleness and radiance. We are confident trilipiderm™ will address your dry skin problems, just as it has for these customers.

Thank you so much for introducing me to this fabulous product, trilipiderm!! The first time I used it, my skin felt nourished and younger. The non-greasy formula is very important to me, and the fragrance is quite pleasant. I like your product so much I would be willing to be a spokesperson! Thank you.

When The TriLipid Research Institute approached Circ to help launch their moisture retention creme Trilipiderm, Circ jumped at the chance to build a brand from the ground up. ● Circ took the new company and its fledgling skin care product through the full branding process, working with the TRI team to conceptualize a platform and identity that would serve as a foundation for the brand. From there, Circ developed all of Trilipiderm's brand assets. To introduce the product to its target audience of women 46+, Circ oversaw a media buy-and-sample campaign in Scottsdale, AZ. ● With Circ's oversight, Trilipiderm has developed a strong brand voice and loyal customer base during its first year in the marketplace.

When it comes to retail, Jane Carter-Gertz has a colorful background. She and her partners are the creative entrepreneurs behind Belle Cose and Goodie 2 Shoes. Running one store — let alone two — doesn't leave much extra time. So, when Jane moved her accounts over about a year ago, it was one team to share. We set up deposit services and lines of credit for seasonal inventory swings. We provided payroll options for compensating a crew of employees. But most importantly, as a locally owned and 100% independent bank, we did everything from right around the corner. No corporate hoops, just familiar faces and dependable service — that's how you treat family.

By focusing on messages involving local ownership, local decision making, reinvestment in the community and a focus on personal relationships, Circ targeted Bank of Jackson Hole's strengths with a unifying tagline and developed original ads and content. “We answer to no one but you” was selected to summarize the bank's identity and lead the advertising campaign across select visual and audio mediums. ● “Bank of Jackson Hole is an institution with a commitment to providing superior customer service and competitive products. Communicating that message is vital to our business. Circ stepped in to help us develop consistent messaging and brand recognition that highlights our strengths. I attribute the success of our campaign to the fact that it's genuine and uncomplicated. It's amazing how many positive comments we've received, both from existing and new customers. The ads have been a huge hit.”

Formerly the head of her own creative agency, and now the mastermind behind Jacques Jenkins-Stireman interior design studio, Jacque and her team have built a reputation for flawless, beautiful, and functional interiors. When Jacque felt that it was time for her brand identity to evolve, as her studio had grown to need a coordinated presentation of her brand that could become recognized, she called on Circ. ● Circ developed a new logo to augment Jacque's existing Futura wordmark and provide Jacque's studio with a personal, yet universal, form to represent the company; a monogram, worked into a square tile inspired by inner and outer spaces, architectural design elements, and the basic forms present in the Futura wordmark. ● For a woman steeped in the science of color, arriving at the orange hue and low-density black used for the brand palette wasn't difficult for Jacque. The collateral package includes a textured envelope interior, foil stamped stationery and business cards, and handmade building signage.

Circ worked with Healthcommunities.com, a brand challenged to differentiate itself within a crowded environment entrenched with major players like WebMD.com and EverydayHealth.com, to redesign and rebuild their web interface and content structure. ● To improve user experience and brand differentiation, Circ provided HealthCommunities.com with a clear information architecture, a friendly and intuitive user interface, desktop and mobile functionality, interactive tools for social sharing and audience participation, and the seamless integration of content and products from the Remedy Health Media suite of tools and apps as well as partners Johns Hopkins and UC Berkeley. ● “We had a really solid partner in Circ for this project. They understood our challenges and goals and worked with us diligently to overhaul our site experience. The outcome is a site that’s much more intuitive—one that has end users and advertisers alike singing our praises!”

Circ began its relationship with Yoga Today in 2005, to create a brand around the start-up's mission to deliver 60 minute yoga classes in high-definition, online. Since then, Yoga Today has become one of the most popular and enduring brands in the Circ portfolio. ● In order to reach the fullest audience, Circ designed Yoga Today's identity to be free of bias with concern for gender, age, or religion, which might limit the appeal to any and all who are new to yoga. Wellness and aspiration served to inspire the choice of the Warrior I pose used in the logo, and the human rendering took on a familiar silhouette and a balanced, athletic quality characteristic of the brand and its instructors. ● Color and typeface choices for the brand were informed by explorations into the culture of yoga and its artifacts, the fresh, dynamic quality of Yoga Today's outdoor class videos, and a contemporary yet timeless aesthetic that would carry the brand well into the future.

Clients

Circ is a small, talented team of strategists, designers, developers, and managers that works with a finite number of client-brands that recognize the value in what we offer.

Some of the Circ Staff

Latham Jenkins // Founder & President

Focused on how new media is being applied and adopted by consumers, Mr. Jenkins spends his time creating 360-degree strategies for companies looking to evolve their business into the online medium. Working on both product applications and creative concepts for clients, he knows how to build creative solutions that create end-user value. Mr. Jenkins founded Circumerro in 1995, just as the Internet was gaining traction and it has been the focus of his professional career.

Dominic Santarsiere // Account Services Director, PMP

Dominic is a flexible, innovative Project/Account Manager who has a solid industry and consulting background with 14+ years of overall IT experience leading large-scale domestic and international projects. He has led many full-scale B2C and B2B implementations and brings deep interactive, eCommerce and multi-channel knowledge related to various industries. Dominic is PMP certified and skilled in program management, account/relationship management, business process re-engineering, strategy and operations, as well as the successful delivery of large- and small-scale technology implementations while maintaining client satisfaction. Dominic spent 7+ years in the consulting industry including 4+ with Accenture and 3+ with Deloitte Consulting and has worked with many marquee organizations including Halliburton, DOW Chemical, Victoria's Secret, Conde Nast, Toyota, Citigroup, Anthem B2RBS, PSEG, Investor's Bank & Trust and Fidelity Investments.

Matthew Speakman // Design Strategist

In the last ten years, Matthew has worked with creative agencies and clients of every size as a graphic designer, art director, and communication strategist. As Circ's Creative Director, Matthew brings a user-centered approach to developing visual communication and brand experiences that deliver clear and compelling messages. From storyboards and concepts to strategy and Design, Matthew leads the creative component of Circ's process that helps brands find their voice with strength, consistency and authenticity.

Stine Richvoldsen // Lead Developer

Ms. Richvoldsen started her programming career working on desktop based applications using C++ and Cocoa, but has enjoyed the transition to web applications and the world of php, css and javascript. She excels at developing intuitive interfaces that can bring the user and client together. The last five years working at Circumerro have facilitated her mastering of these skills. Ms. Richvoldsen finds the influence the world wide web has on human interaction fascinating, and revels in the way this often brings something new to her work.

Jon Hartman // Web Developer

Jon has over a decade of experience as a closet nerd and lover of web-based technologies. Tinkering for a passion turned into a full-swing professional path midway through 2005; with Jon's focus shifting primarily towards application coding, server administration, and tying information from distributed systems together. His weapons of choice are open-source and widely deployed: PHP, Linux, Apache and MySQL on the server, as well as having working expertise with numerous javascript libraries. Jon also can't stand buzzwords.
